- No sign that prices will drop
- ALTHOUGH the property market is set to remain soft this year, it still has a lot of good things going for it and the outlook is far from grim.
- At the 11th Malaysian Property Summit 2018 (11MPS) held this week, Valuation and Property Services Department (JPPH) director-general Nordin Daharom says property valuations had been on a steady uptrend last year. This, despite falling transaction volumes, is expected to continue into the year.
- During his presentation, Nordin points out that transaction volumes in the nine months of 2017 slipped 4.3% to 229,529 compared with 239,916 in the previous corresponding period.
